THE POLICE INVESTIGATION STRIKES AN UNEXPECTED SNAG.

WITNESSES BEFORE THE LEXOW COMMITTEE REFUSE TO OBEY SUBPOENAS OF THE POLICE COMMISSION, AND SAY THE PARKHURST SOCIETY LAWYER TOLD THEM TO DISREGARD THEM -HIS DENIAL

An unexpected difficulty yesterday confronted As-He was informed that Frank Moss, they need not give testimony before the Police yed subpoenas to appear at his office yesterday son when Patrick Ryan refused to tell what got him confused as to dates. it the check for $100 which he had prosidewalk. Ryan is the box manufacturer a the police for sidewalk privileges, but, when he afronted with the $100 check and other proofs of payments, he suddenly changed his mind, and estified that he had been paying the police regularly years. He did not go to Mr. Wellman's office Monday, when several other witnesses against iminary examination, and when he went to the office yesterday afternoon he was accompanied by out the check for $100 for the captain.

"I want to ask you some questions about your testimony before the Senate Committee," Mr. Wella said, when the Ryans were scated in his office, Father and son turned red in the face and looked omfortable. Then Ryan blurted out the state-

I have nothing to say to you, Mr. Wellman. Lawyer Moss advised me not to say anything. What do you mean?" demanded Mr. Wellman

Ryan would only repeat that he had nothing to say, by advice of Mr. Moss. John Ryan then said to his father; "I told you not to open your mouth, and you have talked about Lawyer Moss, of the Parkhurst Society."

ce Superintendent Byrnes entered the office at that time and had a whisperede conversation to the with Mr. Wellman. When informed of the stand second with Mr. Weinhall. Superintendent appeared to be angry and remarked that Mr. Mess could hardly afford to assume the responsibility for such advice

MR. WELLMAN INDIGNANT.

The Ryans went away, refusing to tell anything derstand that Mr. Moss has advised the Ryans not to testify before the Police Commissioners because and is still under the committee's protection as a witness. I have talked with President Martin, of the Police Board, and with Superintendent Byrnes, and they are both indignant at the interference of Mr. Moss and the Parkhurst society with the investigation. I have talked with Mr. Goff, the coun-lawyer named Brady, and had need advised that e need not regard a subpoena from Mr. Wellman long as he was under the protection of a spoena from the Lexow Committee. Mr. Moss lid he only told Ryan to use his own judgment follow the advice of his lawyer. In conversation its the reporters Mr. Moss said that he knew of to more witnesses who had refused to obey Mr. elman's subpoenas, but he would not say who elman's subpoenas, but he would not say who ey were or how he knew the fact.

Mr. Goff said to the reporters that he had not en a party to such advice as Ryan claimed to we received. He would not oppose an investigant intended for the punishment of guilty officials, said.

MR. THUROW'S CASE.

Late in the afternoon Mrs. Thurow, who formerly kept a disorderly house in Second-st., and testified before the Lexow Committee that she had paid ribute to Police Captain Doherty and Detective Hock, went to Mr. Wellman's office, accompanied by her husband. She had neglected to appear in answer to a subpoena earlier in the day, and Mr. Wellman had sent a special officer after her. When bpoena earlier, she said: "Well, I was busy sewing this morning and I did not know if I should me here while I was under the protection of the Lexow Committee. I sent my husband to see Mr. Moss about it, and Mr. Moss told him not to mind 'Is that true?" Mr. Wellman inquired of the

"Is that true?" Mr. Wellman inquired of the woman's husband.
"Yes," said Thurow. "I went to see Mr. Moss, and took along the subpoena, and Mr. Moss said not to mind it."

"What have you done with the subpoena?"

"They kept it in Mr. Moss's office."

"Now, what do you think of that?" Mr. Wellman in the languired, turning to reporters who had heard the inquired, turning to reporters who had heard the inquired, turning to reporters who had beard the inquired of the punishment of men who may be found guilty of misconduct, and here is the Parkhurst Society trying to defeat us. I want to say that this interference will not be tolerated."

Mr. Wellman then told Mrs. Thurow that she must pay no attention to advice from Mr. Moss, as Mr. Goff did not countenance such advice, and the knew.

A report that Mayon Gilsov, had participated in the knew.

A report that Mayor Gilroy had participated in a consultation with Mr. Wellman at the Waldorf about the investigation on Monday night was contradicted yesterday, both by the Mayor and by Mr. Wellman, but Mr. Wellman said that Superintendent Byrnes had talked with him on that subject at the horsel

Mr. Wellman was informed that the following advice would be given to liquor-dealers in the city in an editorial to appear this morning in "The Wine and Spirit Gazette," which represents the liquor interests:

"We advise all witnesses who may be summoned to appear before the Police Commissioners in the coming farce to pay no attention whatever to the summons. This advice applies especially to liquor-dealers. Stay away from Police Headquarters. No power can compel you to testify before the Police Commissioners.

Deer can compel you to testify before the Police Commissioners.

The people want no false pretence in the mock trials to be begun at Police Headquarters. Let us have a close examination of the records of the two Tammany Hall Police Commissioners. There is sood reason to believe that Commissioners. There is sood reason to believe that Commissioner McClave—smirched as he is—is a child of light and an angel of purity compared with "Jimmy" Martin and "Jonny" Sheehan. Public sentiment does not demand the punishment of some minor police officials, but the revelation of the truth as to the doings of the Tammany Police Commissioners, who are justly held responsible for the corruption that has been shown to exist in the department.

Liquor-dealers who are wanted as witnesses before the Commissioners will do well not to heed such sivice," Mr. Wellman said. "I am of the opinion that the Commissioners can compel the attendance of witnesses and have them punished if they refuse to testify. That follows from the fact that the Commissioners are authorized by law to hold court and try offending members of the force."

As to the time when the trials might be expected to begin at the Central Office, Mr. Wellman said he still hoped to have a number of cases ready for trial some time next week.

PAUL DROTHLEFF ON TRIAL.

Paul Drothleff was taken yesterday morning before Judge Cowing, in Part I, General Sessions, charged with grand larceny. Drothleff, it will be nbered, was a witness before the Lexow Comlice persecution and that his arrest was a put-up job. He has been in the Tombs since January 25 swalting trial. Two years ago he was a salesman In the employ of Rogers, Peet & Co. He went to Lazarus Barenkoff, fur dealer, No. 46 Bond-st., and sot samples worth $46, representing himself as a to Le Boutillier Brothers and Ludwig Brothers, in Fourteenth-st. These goods were afterward returned, not being ordered by these firms. The case for the prosecution was all in when the court adjourned until to-day.

TRIAL OF THE CONSPIRATORS ENDED.

DOEBBLER AND SEIDEL, CHARGED WITH TRYING TO BLOW UP A HOUSE AT PATERSON, TO KNOW THEIR FATE SOON-EACH AT-TEMPTS TO SHIFT THE BUR-

DEN ON THE OTHER. The trial of Robert Seidel and Charles A. Doeban unexpected unitedly yesterday confused and the strange, the Paterson silk man sistant District-Attorney Wellman, who is conducting the investigation ordered by the Police Comone of the lawyers associated with John W. Goff, of Quarter Sessions of Passaic County, at Pater-of counsel for the Lexow Committee, had advised son. The two defendants were evidently at cross-men their wages." The substance of the letter, omee yesterms and the had been supposed to have filled with Seidel and would get square and send him to State prison. Charles A. Barnes testified that he with Seidel and would get square and send him to State prison. Charles A. Barnes testified that he heard Doebbler say in Seidel's place that Mr. Strange was a thief and a robber and ought to be blown up with a bomb, and he (Doebbler) would like to do it. Seidel, according to the witness, rebuked Doebbler and ordered him out of the place. Jacob Densier, of West Hoboken, who once boarded with Seidel, said that he was a member of the Young Men's Christian Association while in Paterson. His trunk had been searched at Seidel's, and a galvanic battery, powder and cord such as is used for fuse, were found in it. The witness said that he was a student in galvanism, and that the supposed fuse was fishline.

Mrs. Seidel, who testified for her husband, contradicted herself badly about her knowledge of the writing of the threatening letters.

Seidel was placed on the stand on his own behalf, his evidence being mainly a general denial, and an attempt to throw all the blame on Doebbler. He admitted having furnished the paper and envelopes for the letters. He said that he had sold them to Doebbler, but the latter had not paid for them. He denled that he was an Anarchist, or that a secret society of Anarcists met at his place. Witness swore that Doebbler admitted, in his shop, that he had put the bomb at Mr. Strange's house, and was sorry it did not go off. Later, when Poebbler used profane language about Mr. Strange's house, witness had ordered him out. Seidel recognized the fuse which Mr. Weldmann showed him as some that Doebbler had bought in Passalc. On cross-examination, Seidel admitted that he had carried dynamite cartridges in his beit when he worked in the mines in Germany, but denied that he had ever been near when it was used, or was familiar with its operation.

The testimony was closed yesterday afternoon, and the lawyers summed up for the defence. Prosecutor Gourley and Judge Hopper will address the jury to-day.

LAID WITH SIMPLE CEREMONY.

Only a small crowd of men witnessed the laying

Madison-ave, and Ninety-fourth-st., at 10:30 a. m. the Mayor spoke briefly, saying that the to be one to be erected for Troop A doubtless would be of service to the city in the protection of life and property in times of danger. The foundations of the building were begun to be laid in March last, and it was hoped that by next March the building would be nearly compered.

Among the articles which were placed in the cornerstone were a list of members of the Armory Board; history of Troop A; New York daily papers, weeklies and monthiles; Constitution of the Lutted States, Constitution of the State of New York; United States coins, from 1 cent to 10 cents, inclusive; United States postage stamps, from 1 cent to 30 cents, inclusive; United States and the photographs of Geograph Grower, General F. A MOTION DENIED IN BROADWELL'S CASE A motion was made yesterday afternoon in the cate the order of arrest issued last Friday against William J. Broadwell, the well-known banker and to be used in various speculations for Kinsey. Broadwell has been locked up in Ludlow Street Jail since his arrest last Friday night, having been unable to secure the $25,000 ball necessary to give him his freedom. William C. Reddy, representing the broker, made an elaborate plea that resenting the broker, made an elaborate plea that his client should be released upon the evidence of extracts from letters which he read in court, wherein the plaintiff, Kinsey, authorized him to make several investments in wheat and sugar. Of the $80,000 originally placed in his hands, Broadwell says he paid back $34,000, and since his arrest he has returned $14,000 of Kinsey's paper recently recovered. He alleges that he will be able to return $13,000 on Monday morning if he is released. Thus, he says, after his commissions are deducted, there will be an actual balance due Kinsey of $500, which he stands ready to pay at once. Broadwell alleges that he was not asked to give a statement of the account until June 27.

In opposing the motion, A. A. Michaels said account until June 27.

In opposing the motion, A. A. Michaels said that the extracts of the letters read by Broadwell's counsel were garbled, so as to spell out an omnibus authority. Mr. Kinsey's affidavit was then read. He denied absolutely that he ever gave Broadwell the power or authority to invest any but specific sums in certain things, and in both these ventures he made 1915.

Judge Gildersleeve then denied the motion to vacate the order of arrest, but said he would consider one as to the reduction of bail.

TRAVELLERS MAY DRAW CHECKS ANYWHERE The American Express Company's travellers' checks are of great assistance to tourists abroad They are issued for fixed printed amounts with of the principal European countries. They may be purchased singly or in books, and are cashed without discount or commission by an extended list of houses and are also received by principal hotels in Europe. A letter of introduction to agents and correspondents is also furnished if a purchaser of checks so desires. As a means of identification there are two signatures upon the check when its issuance is complete. One signature is written in a provided space when the checks are obtained from the company. When the check is drawn the signature is again written in another space, this being a countersign. The two signatures, of course, if genuine, will agree, thus establishing the identification.

WORK RESUMED AT THE NAVY YARD. When the bell rung at the Navy Yard yesterday morning, all of the 900 mechanics, with the exception of about eighty, who had been suspended or July 1 because of the neglect to pass the Navy Appropriation bill were at the gates ready to resume work if called. A message was sent to them that Congress had passed a special act continuing the appropriation of 1893-94 on the new work, and Secretary Herbert had authorized that the men should be taken back. This news was received with a cheer, and the men began to earn their salaries again and to push toward completion the big cruiser Maine, the double-turreted monitors Puritan and Terror and the gunboats Castine and Machias.

The cruiser San Francisco was put into the drydock, and a hundred or more men went to work to tear off the barnacies, seaweed and scale from her bottom, after which she will be painted. Other repairs will also be made to her, including new tubes for her boilers and a new outfit for the Whitchead torpedoes. ie work if called. A message was sent to them

SEVEN CHALDEAN PRIESTS DETAINED.

THEY ARE DIRTY, AND DECLARE THEY CAME

HERE TO BEG FOR A CHURCH-HELD AS PAUPERS ON ELLIS ISLAND.

Seven Chaldean priests who arrived at this por on Monday, on the steamship Furnessia, are detained on Ellis Island as paupers. They are not only with out money, but are a dirty-tooking lot. They de clared at first that they were here to beg for money be used for the building of a church in their na tive land, and that they had done the same this in Europe, with such success that one of their ecommendation in extremely bad French, purport ing to come from the Bishop of Mesopotamia ing to come from the Hishop of Mesopatamia. Later some of them said they were Presbyterians. A telephone message was sent to Archbishop Corrigan, in hopes he might have been informed of the priests' coming, but he is away on his vacation. The Vicar-General will be communicated with. The authorities at the Island say the priests should have at least letters from the patriarchs. One of these priests has only one arm. Another one of them came from Varn, in Asia Minor, which was made famous by the massacres there a few years ago, when Moussa Bey was its Governor.

IMMIGRANTS BREAK LOCKS AND RUN.

FOUR MEN ON ELLIS ISLAND ELUDE THE GUARDS AND ESCAPE-OTHERS WHO TRY

TO GET AWAY ARE EASILY CAUGHT. There was a lively time on Ellis Island yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, when thirteen men, detained there for examination as to their right to land in this country as immigrants, made a break for lib-erty on the Jersey shore. Four men got away and the others were captured by the watchmen before they had time to jump in the water, except one man who swam off to a schooner anchored near by and was brought back later in the day.

The men who made the break for liberty were sleeping in the dormitories which are just outside the new building. They broke the lock of the door in the sleeping apartment and stole in the shadow around the sea wall of the island to where some row-boats were moored. As they did so the watchmen on the island saw them and ran toward them. The watchmen declared that the four men who escaped drew daggers and held them at bay. They had no weapons wherewith to defend themselves and over-awe the men. the new building. They broke the lock of the door

The four runaways jumped into the boat belonging to the doctor stationed on the island and rowed ashore. An Italian jumped into the water and swam to a schooner near by. The other men, who were unarmed, were overpowered by the watchmen and brought back to the detention pen in the main building. The men who escaped were stowaways, all negroes, who came here on the steamer Crown Prince from the West Indies. Their names were Alfred Austin. Edward Hosford Bissell, James Bissel and Bonnington Donessi. The police of New-York and Jersey City were informed of the escape of the men. There may be an investigation as to whether the watchmen on the island were awake at the time they made their escape. Last week Assistant Commissioner McSweeny visited the island at midnight and found six of the twelve night watchmen sound asleep.

STARVED HERSELF TO SAVE AND WENT CRAST Anna Zermuhle, an unmarried Swiss woman, has been adjudged a lunatic, and yesterday Judge Gildersleeve, of the Superior Court, appointed Herman Frank committee of her estate. It is said-that she became insane from overwork and stary-ing herself. An examination of her effects showed that she had on deposit in several savings banks $4,059 43. The cost of the lunacy commission was about $300.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED AND DISCHARGED. Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court, yesterday appointed Arthur Nevels receiver of the real estate and other assets of the United States Land Improvement Company, whose office was formerly at provement Company, whose office was formerly at No. 218 Fulton-st., in the suit of Jacob C. Van Horn, who recovered a judgment against the company for $1.716 on April 15, 1893, but was unable to collect it. The company, it is said, has real estate at Lyndhurst, L. L. comprising about 4,000 lots on which there are mortgages aggregating $30,000. The company was incorporated in 1890, with a capital stock of $100,000 to develop land at Breslau, near Habylon.

Babylon.

An order was filed in the County Clerk's office yesterlay discharging Andrew Kirkpatrick as ancillary receiver of the property in this State of the Domestic Sewing Machine Company. The only assets he discovered were two leases of the premises at the corner of Broaciway and Fourteenth-st., which he was unable to sell at auction. He collected $225 rent and was then dispossessed.
